

SPEAKER BIO BRETT WISKAR

Keynote Speaker | Innovation, AI & Organisational Transformation

Practical keynotes for conferences, associations, & leadership events across

Profile

Brett Wiskar is one of Australia's leading futurist keynote speakers, working with organisations across the red meat sector, food and agriculture, FMCG, government, education, security, and technology to help them understand disruption and prepare for what's next.

With more than 25 years' experience in innovation, trend forecasting and strategic transformation, Brett has built a reputation guiding industries through the practical realities of technological change. His work spans the full food supply chain - from production and processing to logistics, retail and consumer behaviour. This gives him a uniquely grounded perspective on the pressures, risks and opportunities shaping the future of Australia's cold chain and broader ecosystem.

Brett helps executive teams and industry bodies build resilience, navigate uncertainty and future-proof their organisations. His presentations blend deep domain expertise with a clear, engaging view of how emerging technologies, shifting markets and evolving consumer expectations will redefine competitiveness in the years ahead.

SPEAKER BIO BRETT WISKAR

Keynote Speaker | Innovation, AI & Organisational Transformation

Short Bio

Brett Wiskar is an Australian keynote speaker specialising in innovation, emerging technology, and organisational change. With a background in digital transformation and leadership advisory work, Brett helps organisations make sense of complexity and translate change into practical action for leaders and teams.

Standard Bio

Brett Wiskar is an Australian keynote speaker working at the intersection of innovation, emerging technology, and organisational change.

With a background spanning digital transformation, strategy, and leadership advisory work, Brett is known for helping organisations and leaders make sense of complexity and respond to change in practical, grounded ways.

Brett works most often with industry associations, corporates of varying size, and leadership teams navigating disruption, growth, or changing expectations. His keynotes focus on clarity rather than hype, combining real-world experience with accessible frameworks that audiences can apply immediately.

Based in Australia, Brett speaks across Australia, New Zealand, and the Asia-Pacific region at conferences, leadership events, and executive forums.

Example Speaker Intro for Event Host (MC)

Our next speaker works with organisations navigating constant change: new technologies, shifting market expectations, and evolving business conditions. He spends his time helping companies adapt their operations as markets, clients, and solutions are redefined.

Today he's here to speak on...

[why adaptability has become the real competitive advantage and how high-performing teams keep creating value through change].

Please welcome Brett Wiskar.